It was a clean-out exhibition, free from wrangling, kicks or any unpleas-antness which figured in other per-formances. The umpires kept the men busily engaged and no loading was no-ticeable.

Martin, with his timely swat in the seventh, brought in the run which won the game, and Donnovan made the hit which scored the two in the second.

McCabe either went home last night or is now on his way. Death in his family made it necessary. Baker will probably be back in the game at third, though he is by no means well, and Ezekiel will go to right in McCabe's place.

The pitchers worked admirably, and it was indeed a pitchers' battle, with Donnovan having by far the better of the argument, despite the fact that he was lit harder than Bruckmiller. Gave Good Performance.
Under the efficient direction of Frank.
R. Hufty, a most interesting performance of the cantata, "Esther," was given at the City Auditorium last night by a cast and chorus composed entirely of local amateurs, accompanied by the Borjes Orchestra, of Norfolk.
Several of the cast were "semi-profs," or church singers, so that it was to be expected that they should sing intelligently and well, but the certainty of attack and the volume of tone which the chorus displayed reflected great credit upon Mr. Hufty, especially when it is remembered that the whole "company," many of whom were children, sang in costume and, therefore, without a word of the text or a line of the music to guide them.

The orchestra, too, small as it was, played exceedingly well, not only the introductory and accompanying music of the score, but, also the purely instrumental numbers. The first violin, in particular, proved to be very much of a musician.

Last night's performance was for the benefit of the Schittering Arms Hospital and the Pine Camp of the Tuberculosis Sccioty. To-night the cantata will be repeated for the benefit of the Seventh Street Christian and Episcopal Churches.
